PROGRESS OF PUNAHOU

Bright Outlook for the College
Year.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW BUILDING

The Athletic Privileges Will be Increased—More Public Entertainments.

"The outlook for our new year is very good," said President Smith of Oahu College. "There will be fifteen or twenty new students, not counting the members of the Preparatory graduating class, and the indications are that we shall have more students than we had last year in every department of the school.
Some of the new students are from the States, and they seem to be pleased with the announcements of courses contained in the new catalogue. We have had very encouraging recognition on the part of Berkeley and Stanford, on the basis of the re-organized courses of study, and we shall all try to maintain the advantage thus gained by consistent effort and methods throughout the school. At last the ground is broken for the new Preparatory building, to be located at Puna-hou. The building will be the most beautiful and best equipped Primary and Grammar School building in the Islands.
It will accommodate, without crowding, about 400 pupils, will have all the modern conveniences for school work, including domestic science, manual training, etc.
The work in domestic science and manual training will be carried on with temporary equipment, however, as we hope in another year to break ground for another building to accommodate this work for the entire institution. The new Preparatory building is to have, on the second floor, a large assembly room, with seating capacity of 600 to 1000. The contractor is under agreement to finish the building by the first of April, so we shall probably be able to use it for the last term of the year.

"The new teachers, Mr. Bailey and Miss Ridgway, have arrived, and they will doubtless undertake their work with great enthusiasm. The outlook for athletics is much brighter than we thought it would be. New material is coming in, and Mr. Bailey comes to us fresh from Varsity track work. His ideas are good and up-to-date, and his work with the boys will be strong.

"In general, the work for the coming year will possess many features that will commend themselves to the public. The newness of the situation has somewhat rubbed itself away, and we hope to be free to do many things that lack of time and strength made it necessary to leave undone last year. More attention will be given to public exercises, lectures, entertainments of a wholesome sort, etc.
"But we DO need some new quarters for boys and teachers at Punahou!" The new Oahu College catalogue, which has just been published, certainly deserves more than passing attention, both because of the thorough and systematic form, in which exhaustive information concerning this institution has been given, and because of the neat and attractive make-up of this booklet.

It will be found instructive to peruse its pages to anyone who has especial interest in Punahou, but not only this.
Anyone who is interested in the problems of modern education will gain much of value by ascertaining how Oahu College is training young men and women, as well as boys and girls, to become good citizens. Perhaps the following passage, taken from this book will show better than anything else what the aim of the institution is: "Oahu College is a Christian, though non-sectarian, school. While the courses of study are organized in accordance with the best educational standards of the times, the chief aim of the school is not intellectual attainment, but rather character, of that type essentially demanded by the Christian Gospel."

After giving a list of the faculty, with a short sketch of previous positions and work of each, a very interesting historical sketch is given, covering the history of the college from its very earliest days.
The beginning of this sketch, which gives the resolutions passed at the general meeting of the Sandwich Islands Mission May 12th to June 8th, 1841, is interesting.
The rest of it, which is an extract from an address given by President Dole on the occasion of the dedication of Punahou Hall in 1896, gives the general outline of the history of the college since 1841.
The conditions for admission and exceptants from the college statutes are hereafter given, whereupon follows the prospectus of the courses of study. In this chapter will be found a fund of information on many educational subjects, and it will be seen from it that the college is fully on a level with the best institutions of its grade in the States.

The next chapter is devoted to more general information, the first section treating of the character of the institution and giving an explanation of its aim, as well with regard to the religious as to the intellectual side. Thereupon follows a description of the college grounds, the general surroundings of Punahou, and the climate there. The college baths, art collection, scientific apparatus, library, boarding department, expenses, scholarships, etc., come next in the description, and the catalogue closes with a list giving the names of scholars. The splendid pictures, giving views of the scenery and different buildings, as well as interiors from the college, also deserve very favorable mention.

"DOCTOR" STOCKTON'S IDEA OF IT.

Mr. Frank R. Stockton, the novelist, was at a Southern resort recently and there, as the story goes, met a Baptist clergyman. In the course of their conversation the minister called Mr. Stockton "Doctor," at which the novelist was much annoyed. "I'm not a doctor," said Mr. Stockton. "No?" questioningly.
"But doctor, I'm told the women of the Smart Set, or so-called 400, in New York drink a great deal." "I do not know," said Mr. Stockton. "But I do not know that I'm not a doctor." "No?" again questioningly. "But—a doctor, I'm informed that drunkenness is on the increase among those ladies." "I don't care," replied the novelist, "so long as you don't call me 'doctor,' because I'm not one." "No?" queried the clergyman for a third time. "But I have been told that when they can't get liquor they drink their cognac, doctor." "Oh," sighed Stockton, "you refer, of course, to the Colonial Dames."
